TO DISCUSS, AMONG OTHER IMPORTANT TOPICS THE REVISION OF THE CONFESSION OF

FAITH-CANDIDATES FOR THE MODER-

ATORSHIP-THE COMMISSIONERS.

[FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.] Saratoga, May 14.-The first religious body to neet in this delightful village this spring is the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. It will be followed in June by the American Home Missionary Society, a body connected with the Congregational Church. The General Assembly is not a stranger to Saratoga; on the contrary, our Presbyterian against revising the present Symbols of the friends seem very much at home here, and three times since the reunion meetings have been held here. The local committees have been industriously at work, arranging the details for the meetings, and providing homes for the commissioners during the ten or twelve days that the Assembly will be in session. The Assembly will open to-morrow morning in the First Presbyterian Church, with the annual sermon by the retiring moderator, the Rev. Dr. William C. Roberts, president of the Lake Forest University, near Chicago. Much interest always centres in this sermon, as it generally strikes the key-note of the meeting. Dr. Roberts is in favor the world. We believe that there is a demand for such a Creed of a moderate revision of the Confession of Faith, and there is considerable curiosity as to what he will say on this "burning question," In the afternoon, after the roll call of the commissioners, there will be an election of a moderator. After the remaion of the old and new schools, an effort was made for a number of years to choose alternately from representatives of the two bodies, but with that happy event twenty years and more behind, this schoalistic division is no longer observed. Of later years the office has gone alternately to the East and to the West, but even this rule is beginning to be broken, since the moderator two years ago came from Missouri and last year from Illinois.

It is impossible to tell with any degree of certainty who will be chosen for this responsible office this week, but from the important position which the New-York Presbytery has taken in the discussion of the revision, is would not be a surprise if one of the candidates were from that city. Two of the commissioners from that Presbytery, Dr. Howard Crosby and Dr. Charles L. Thompson, have already served as moderators Dr. Crosby in 1873 and Dr. Thompson two years ago. New-York has not had a moderator since the Assembly met in this place seven years ago when Dr. Hatfield presided. It may be men-tioned, in passing, that it is an unwritten law that a man shall not fill this office twice.

The election of moderator will undoubtedly be governed by the revision question. While a large majority of the Presbyterians favor a revision of the Confession of Faith and have sent commissioners who will represent their views, still there are two classes of revision men; those who favor a few changes in the present Confession, without changing the essential dectrines which it contains, and those who desire a new Cree'l. Whether these two classes will unite in the election of a moderator, or whether they will serve as checks upon one another, and thus allow an anti-revisionist to preside, is uncertain. FOUR POSSEBLE CANDIDATES.

While no slates are allowable in the General Assembly, still there are names mentioned in advance of the meetings every year. So far, one hails from New-York, one from New-Jersey, and two from Ohio.

Dr. Robert Russell Booth, of the Rutgers Riverside Church of New-York, is the oldest paster in that Presbytery, and a native of that city. He was graduated at Williams College about ferty years ago, and received his theological education at at Auburn Seminary. He has been a pastor in New-York since 1861, with the brief intermission caused by ill-health which led to his resignation as paster of the University Place He was formerly a New School man, and has been active in advancing the cause of Presbyterianism, not only in the Presbytery of New-York, but throughout the country, and the cause of religion in all lands. He has just succeeded in dedicating a beautiful church on the west side of the city.

Dr. Everard Kempshall, for more than a quart of a century the pastor of the First Church of Elizabeth, N. J., has many friends who would be glad to see him chosen moderator. Whether or not they will deep it wise to advocate their views at this time will soon be known. Dr Kempshall was born in Rochester 1830, and was graduated at Williams College He began his postorate at Buffelo. In 1870 he received the honorary title of D. D. both from Williams College and from Princeton. For many years he has been a director of Princeton Seminary.

Dr. Charles S. Pomeroy, of Clevelend, is native of Brocklyn, his father being an elder of the First Presbyterian Church in that city. He was graduated from Columbia College when twenty years old. For three years he was in mercantile life in partnership with his father After his conversion he entered Union Seminary, and became the first pastor of the Ross Street Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, where he remained for ten years, the church meanwhile having increased its membership from forty to 400. In 1873 he accepted a call to the Second Presbyterian Church in Cleveland. In these years hundreds of members have been added to the church and a new house of worship erected at an expense of $160,000.

Dr. William E. Moore, since 1584 the permanent tlerk of the Assembly, was born in Strasburg, Pennsylvania, in 1823. The family shortly afterward returned to Delaware, the home of his Scotch Presbyterian ancestry. Dr. Moore was graduated from Yale College in 1847, and was a private student in theology while principal of the Fairfield Seminary in Connecticut. years ago he became paster of the First Presbyterian Church in West Chester, Pennsylvania, where he remained until April, 1872, when he resigned to accept a call to the Second Church of Columbus. He has been a most efficient officer of the various presbyterial bodies with which he has been connected, and few men surpass him in their knowledge of the Acts of the Assemblies. One of his sons is Professor George F. Moore, of Andover Seminary. While it is possible that none of these gentlemen will be nominated to-morrow, still it is certain that if either of the four should be suc cessful in being chosen to preside over this most important Assembly, the affairs of the Presbyterian Church would be in sale hands. It is seldom that any caucuses or other political methods of any kind are resorted to by the Assembly. Once or twice, however, it an unguarded moment, something of that sort has been attempted in years gone by, but the result was so disastrous Assembly that steps should be taken toward the preparation of a new Creed. The Presbytery of Nassau in 1888 simply asked that proper steps be taken for a revision of the third chapter of the Confession of Faith, with special reference to sections 3, 4, 6 and 7; the action of the Assembly last year was as follows:

Whereas, in the company of many of our ministers and

Whereas, In the opinion of many of our ministers and opic, some forms of statement in our Confession are the to inisunderstanding, and expose our system of doctrine to unmerited criticism; and Whereas, Before any definite steps should be taken for revision of our sandards, it is desirable to know whether there is any general desire for such revision;

Resolved, That this General Assembly overture to the Presbyteries the following questions: (1) Do you desire a revision of the Confession of Faith 1 (2) If so, in what respects and to what extent?

ASKING FOR A NEW CREED.

Some of the Presbyteries have declined to answer the overture, simply stating that they desired a new Creed; others have requested a new Creed, and in order to secure it have voted Other Presbyteries have voted for Revision now and the new Creed as soon as they can get it. The New-York Presbytery added to its affirmative answer this overture to the Assembly.

sembly: Furthermore, as germane to the object which the Assembly had in mind in referring these questions to the Presbyteries, your committee recommends that this Pres-bytery overture the General Assembly to invite the cobytery overture the General Assembly to invite the co-operation of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches of America, and of Great Britain and Ireland, to formulate a short, simple Greed, couched so far as may be in Scripture innuare, and containing all the essential and necessary priticles of the Westminster Confession, which Greed shall be submitted for approval and adoption as the common Creed of the Presbyterian and the Reformed Churches of not as a substitute for our Confession, but only to sum-marize and supplement it for the work of the Church. marize and supplement to for the work of which we would and we must retain our Standards, which we have as our family inheritance and as the safeguard of our ministry and our institutions. But a brief and comprehensive Creed, at once interpreting and representing those Standards, would be welcomed by our churches as most helpful and benedicent for the exposition of what we must have the safe that the safe have meant through all these years by "The system of doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures." We want no new doctrines, but only a statement of the old doctrines made in the light and in the spirit of our present Christian activities, of our high privileges and our large obili-tions; a statement in which the love of God which is Christ Jesus our Lord shall be central and dominant.

REPORT OF A SPECIAL COMMITTEE. Another important matter that is to come be fore the Assembly will be the report of the Special Committee appointed to revise the Proof Texts of the Standards. This committee has been at work for two years, and has prepared a report on the texts relating to the Confession of Faith which it will submit at this session. The importance of this report will be felt when one considers that much of the debate during the winter on the advisability of revising the Confession was fought on this very ground: that the Proof Texts of the Standards, especially those which relate to the doctrine of the Decrees, did which relate to the doctrine of the Decrees, did not warrant the inferences deduced from them. The friends of Revision are anxious that it should come up at an early stage in the proceedings, that if there be a discussion it may take place before the members are weary with the meetings and before they begin to separate. It seems probable now that little will be done this year further than to receive the answers to the overtures and to submit the whole subject to a special committee, which shall report to the next Assembly. Some of the conservative men who believe that the present overture is unconstitutional may decide to oppose the reception of the overtures on the ground that the Assembly had no right to originate the question of a change in overtures on the ground that the instance in the Confession. There will also be a question raised undoubtedly as to whether, if the overture be a proper one, a majority of the Presbyteries or two-thirds of the whole number are required to give their consent before a change can be ordered. If these questions are raised it will be against the advice of many of the conserva-tives, who believe in letting the majority rule, and as the majority has expressed its dissatisfaction with the Confession as it is to-day.

Trained nurses are an outgrowth of the present decade, and have now become one of the most neces-sary and useful adjuncts of the doctor in cases of The ever-increasing demand for trained nurses shows the public appreciation of their value. The interest of the public in the training of nurses should be deep, for the work not only furnishes intelligent co-operation with the physician, which is invaluable, but opens up a field of labor which educated women can occupy, not only with self-re-spect, but with the esteem and sympathy of those with whom they are brought in contact. The Training School for Nurses connected with the DRAWING. Mahon, on complaint of Augustus D.
